Andover Joins War On Drugs

By Lisa A. Boudreau

The war on drugs has gone worldwide as Colombian President Virgilio Barco fights his country's drug lords and U.S. President George Bush proposes a national strategy to combat drug problems.

On the local battlefield, Brenda O'Brien, the school system's director of health education, took the initiative for Andover last spring. Ms. O'Brien applied for and received a three-year grant from the Northeast Regional Center for Drug-Free Schools and Communities to battle drug use and abuse locally. The center is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education and is one of five in the country.

The first year underwrote the cost of extensive training for school and community professionals to develop practical prevention and early intervention programs to combat drug and alcohol abuse. One of the merits of the program is its focus on providing training for educators and others to develop individualized programs for their schools and communities, said Ms. O'Brien.

The center trains leadership teams from all facets of the town in problem awareness, identification and solving techniques. The training enables the teams to create and implement early intervention and prevention programs.

The center does not espouse teaching participants rehabilitation techniques, said Ms. O'Brien.

"The training enables teachers, who see students on a day-to-day basis, to identify changes in observable behavior that may indicate substance abuse and make the appropriate referral to counseling and health care professionals," she said.

Part of the problem in Andover as in other communities, said School Committeeman Michael Frishman, who participated in some of the training conferences, is a growing attitude of complancency.

"What we have are increasing large bodies of apathetic kids," said Mr. Frishman.

A lack of recreational activities and ways to get there, combined with easy access to alcohol and drugs, have left young people to turn to drugs for recreation, he said.

Andover Safety Officer Jack Milne, who also attended the training sessions, said he got a chance to discuss related problems with other law enforcement personnel from around the Northeast. From statistics they exchanged, communities share similar problems in combating recreational drug use by teenagers, he said.

"We (law enforcement officials) keep hearing the same thing from kids, 'There's nothing to do,'" said Officer Milne.

The key to the training programs, he said, was that it brought people from different areas of the community together to work

Selectmen To Reconvene After Four-Week Respite

By Frank Messina

Back from an unofficial four-week vacation, on Sept. 11 the Board of Selectmen will start making up for lost time with a vengeance.

In the first of four consecutive Monday night meetings in September, the board will meet at 6:30 p.m.—an hour early—to interview Zoning Board of Appeal candidates.

The board is looking to replace retiring ZBA member Roger Collins from a group of three applicants. Thomas Collins, Kurt Kefferstan and Pierre Reilly will each be given a chance to say why they want to volunteer for ZBA duty.

Each will give a short presentation that will be followed by questions from the selectmen.

The turnout was somewhat smaller than expected and far below the number of citizens who applied last year when three board seats were up for renewal. The selectmen eventually kept all three incumbent ZBA members, including Chairman Wesly Whitney.

The other marquee item on the agenda is a hearing on alleged liquor license violations by Trader Rick's restaurant in Park Street Village. The restaurant is owned by local attorney Gerald Cohen.

Police say the restaurant is guilty of two violations: serving alcohol after hours and serving to an underage employee.

The first infraction allegedly occurred when police cruised by the restaurant and saw drinks on the tables 15 minutes after closing.

The second incident came in July when a policeman patroling the shopping center at 3 a.m. saw movement in the restaurant. Investigating, he found the restaurant manager and a 19-year-old bartender and determined that the underage employee was drinking.

However, Police Chief James Johnson said the infraction falls in a gray area.

ECC Director Returns From Africa

Linnea Girshenberg, director of the Shawsheen Early Childhood Center, has recently returned from a work-related trip to Uganda in East Africa. Mrs. Gershenberg was in Uganda as the guest of the country's minister of education, who had admired the work she had begun 20 years ago.

Mrs. Gershenberg and her family lived in Uganda for three years from 1969 to 1971. During that time she became involved in the country's early childhood and nursery school programs.

"It's very encouraging to see people who have so little work so hard," said Mrs. Gershenberg. "There is a great deal of hope there for moving ahead (with education)."

Elder Services Accepts Nominations

The board of directors of Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley Inc. is seeking nominations for the James L. Campbell Award.

The award is given annually to an individual who best exemplifies "outstanding vision, leadership and service to elders" and will be awarded at the corporation's annual meeting in October.

The award is named in honor of the late Mr. Campbell of Haverhill, who played a major role in founding Elder Services in 1974.

Two individuals were honored in 1988: Evelyn Rudis, for her dedication and efforts in helping to build the Methuen Senior Center, and Dr. William O'Rourke, for his role as an educator and advocate for elder mental health services.

Persons who wish to nominate an individual can contact Elder Services, 420 Common St., Lawrence, for an application.

Conservation Group Looking For Volunteers

The Essex Conservation District is planning new functions and setting new organizational goals.

The goal of the non-profit organization's voluntary board of supervisors is to promote Essex County's natural resource education, conservation and environmental awareness.

The organization is looking for assistance. You may want to help out with its fall bulb sale, the group's primary fund-raisers or help prepare and staff its Topsfield Fair exhibit.

The district also puts out a newsletter that needs more innovative ideas.

For further information, contact the Essex Conservation District, 562 Maple St., Hathorne (Danvers), Mass. 01937.

T'ai chi will be presented as a 10-week course beginning Thursday, Sept. 28, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The course will include the practice of exercises and a discussion of the t'ai chi philosophy.

Daily practice of t'ai chi can lead to strength, improved health, balance and peace of mind, sad Arthur Forro, course instructor, said.

Selectmen

"The state law allows people under 21 to serve beverages but doesn't allow them to drink," said Chief Johnson. "I'm not condoning their actions...but there is an ambiguity."

The selectmen could suspend the restaurant's liquor license or could simply issue a warning.

The Andover Lions Club has also lent a helping hand. The proceeds from the club's first golf tournament fund-raiser, approximately $2,500, will go to the schools' and community Assistance, Support and Knowledge team, said Bob McKechnie, Lions president.

The Andover High School task force has been focusing on creating a community services directory for youths. The directory will include listings for everything from recreational events to substance abuse referral, counseling and treatment services, said Ms. O'Brien. The flyer, which is still in the works, will be sent out to families with children in the public schools sometime this fall, she said.

The two middle schools are trying to tackle drug problems by developing peer leadership groups. Studies have proved that group and peer counseling have been more effective in deterring young people from drugs, said Ms. O'Brien.

The training part of the three-year grant isn't over yet, Ms. O'Brien said. Over the next two years the center will provide more training sessions and lectures from health care and counseling professionals for Andover's youth, educators and citizens.

Hospital VP Recertified

William J. Hegarty of Andover, executive vice president and general counsel of Melrose-Wakefield Hospital in Melrose, has been recertified as a member of the American College of Healthcare Executives, a Chicago-based, international professional society of more than 22,000 healthcare executives.

The announcement was made at the college's recent 55th annual convocation ceremony at the Fairmont Hotel in Chicago where the college and American Hospital Association held their annual meetings.

According to a 1986 policy, college members are required to recertify their professional competence every six years. Only approximately 7,400 healthcare executives in the nation are members of the college.

Mr. Hegarty first attained membership status, the second level of professional achievement in the college, July 31, 1983, in Houston, Texas. To earn it, Mr. Hegarty had to show commitment to continuing education, progression in professional experience and participation in voluntary and community affairs. He had to complete comprehensive written and oral examinations on a variety of healthcare management subjects.

To become recertified, Mr. Hegarty chose from among three options outlined by the college: earning an advanced academic degree; developing an educational plan based on a formal professional self-assessment process and documenting participation in ongoing continuing education; or participating in continuing education and voluntary professional, civic and community affairs. He chose to develop an educational plan.

William Hegarty

Hegarty and his wife, Joan, have a son, Daniel.

'Wall $treet Week' Panelist To Lead Workshop Next Week

A Wall $treet Week panelist will be leading a workshop at the Andover Inn Wednesday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Ralph J. Acampora, senior vice president of Kidder, Peabody & Co., is a frequent speaker and writer on technical analysis. He is currently writing a textbook on the subject and has appeared on CNN, FNN and Today's Business. He is now a permanent panelist on Public Television's Wall $treet Week, hosted by Louis Rukeyser.

Among Mr. Acampora's topics will be the long-term bull trend and stock selection in general from a technical analyst's point of view.

Mr. Acampora joined Kidder, Peabody in 1980. Before that, he spent four years at a large mutual fund in New York City and then 12 years at Smith, Barney, Harris, Upham & Co. Inc.

He is one of the founding members and a past president of the Market Technicians Association, a splinter group of the New York Society of Security Analysts. He established this organization's first technical library. The MTA has expanded into a national organization of technicians and has given Mr. Acampora its cherished annual award—for the person who has given the most to fostering the spread of technical analysis.

Most recently he founded the worldwide organization of technicians known as the International Federation of Technical Analysts. He is its first chairman. The association was incorporated in Janurary, 1986, for the purpose of uniting technicians around the world to standardize the language of technical analysis plus the price/volume data they use.

Mr. Acampora received his formal education at Iona College and St. Joseph's Seminary in Westchester, N.Y.

There is no admission charge for the workshop, and the public is invited. Contact Carl V. Accardo at Kidder, Peabody's Lowell office for more information.

Merrimack College Names Winners Of Augustine Awards

Merrimack College alumni Kelly Lange of Los Angeles and James Sellers of Andover will be among the recipients of this year's St. Augustine Awards. The announcement was made by the Rev. John E. Deegan, O.S.A., college president.

Mr. Sellers will receive the award for alumni service to the college and Ms. Lange will receive the alumni achievement award.

Ms. Lange, known as Dorothy Scafard when she attended Merrimack College, co-anchors the 6 and 11 p.m. news on KNBC-TV in Los Angeles. She previously co-anchored the early edition of the news and co-hosted the station's 90-minute live public affairs program, Sunday.

Ms. Lange began at KNBC-TV in 1971 and has reported and narrated documentaries, news stories and specials, which have aired on KNBC and affiliate stations.

For seven years she was a substitute host on Today, weekend anchor of NBC Nightly News and guest host on the late-night Tomorrow program. For nine years she co-hosted Pasadena's Rose Bowl parade with Michael Landon and Bryant Gumbel and also hosted a day-time show Take My Advice.

Ms. Lange has received numerous honors, including the Los Angeles area Emmy for outstanding achievement as a news anchor and several L.A. Press Club awards, including best news series and best news writing. She won the Genii Award of American Women in Radio and TV, whose past recipients include Lucille Ball, Mary Tyler Moore and Beatrice Arthur.

Ms. Lange began her broadcasting career in 1967 as a helicopter traffic and spot news reporter for Radio KABC in Los Angeles. She hosted a radio talk show and was a reporter for KABC-TV.

She was born in New York, grew up in Lawrence and worked her way through college as a waitress at the Cedar Crest Restaurant. Her mother, Alice Scafard, lives in Andover.

Ms. Lange is married to Bill Friedkin, a Hollywood director whose films include The French Connection, Oscar winner for Best Picture in 1971, The Exorcist and The Brink's Job.

Mr. Sellers, a 1962 Merrimack graduate and teacher at Danvers High School, has devoted hours to his alma mater by supporting its athletic programs, promoting the college to high school students and serving on committees. He serves on the alumni council and its Athletic Hall of Fame committee, participates in alumni resource nights, volunteers for the annual fund phonathons and chaired his class' 25th anniversary gift committee.

Mr. Sellers is founding president of Friends of Shawsheen, committeeman and former director of the Andover/North Andover YMCA and a member of the committee to restructure town meeting.

He and his wife, Helen, also a Merrimack graduate, taught religious education for many years at St. Augustine Church in Andover.

The St. Augustine Awards, established in 1985, honor alumni and area citizens who have made significant contributions to their communities. Other award-winners this year are George D. Behrakis of Lowell and Paul and Margaret Hughes of Plaistow, N.H. Award recipients receive a medal bearing the likeness of St. Augustine, founder of the community of priests and brothers who serve at Merrimack and several parishes in the Merrimack Valley.

Fr. Deegan appoints the committee that recommends the honorees. This year's committee was chaired by Paul Luther of North Andover. Nominations for awards come from residents throughout Merrimack Valley.

Children's Author To Visit Museum

Eric Carle, children's book author and illustrator, will appear at the Children's Museum shop in Boston on Saturday, Sept. 23, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Mr. Carle will autograph copies of his newest book, Animals Animals and other favorites, including The Hungry Caterpillar and The Very Busy Spider.

Convinced that children have an immense curiosity about the world around them, Mr. Carle said learning can be a joyful adventure for them if information is presented in an imaginative and creative manner.

"I attempt to have many levels in my books: funny animals, exciting colors, a story, humor, entertainment, mystery, emotional content and learning," he said. "Depending on the child's interest, ability or curiosity, he or she can select the level where he or she feels comfortable. Some of these levels can and should be demanding and challenging."

Lions, bugs, pelicans, flying fish, horses, birds, butterflies, elephants, seals, snakes, alligators, ducks, horses, peacocks and many more animals fly, swim and romp through the pages of Animals Animals

Mr. Carle's illustrations accompany more than 50 poems from the Bible to the Talmud, Haiku to Pawnee Indian verse, William Shakespeare to Edward Lear, Ogden Nash to John Gardner.

Born in Syracuse, N.Y., Mr. Carle moved to Germany with his parents when he was 6. Sixteen years later, after studying at the Academy of Applied Arts in Stuttgart, he returned to the United States. He and his family live in Northampton.

The Children's Museum is located at 300 Congress St. and is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.. to 5 p.m. and Fridays until 9 p.m. It is closed Mondays, except on Boston school vacations and holidays.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

There is no clear evidence that solid foods will help your baby sleep through the night. Even if they did, it's not an important enough reason to start solid foods. Evidence shows now that the introduction of solid foods too early in life can lead to allergies later on. An average baby does not need anything but breast milk or infant formula for at least the first four months of life. Breast milk and/or infant formula will satisfy all his nutritional needs. Don't rush your baby into solid foods thinking that he'll be better off. He or she will function very well while awake and have a more satisfactory sleep routine.

You will find all of your baby needs in stock at TINY TOTLAND. Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morigeaux are available. Lay-a-way plan at no additional charge. Open 9-5:30. Mon. & Th. 9-9. Bank Branch Gets Delayed

The bank branch slated for the high school won't be ready as planned for the start of the school year. Principal Wilbur Hixon said the Warren Five Cent Savings Bank branch was running behind schedule.

Mr. Hixon blamed the delays on the four week-old telephone workers' strike and the unanticipated need for curriculum approval by the School Committee.

The branch is still waiting for security and phone lines to be installed along with computer connections. The branch also needed curriculum approval from the School Committee before the State Banking Commission gave its final approval.

The School Committee voted unanimously 4 to 0 (Susan Poor being absent) to approve the curriculum that will train up to 24 students to work in the school branch.

NORTHERN ESSEX COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Ellen Dawkins of Boxford did – so can you!

Ellie Dawkins is a Licensed Practical Nurse who worked in a clinical setting for over 24 years. "Then," says Ellie, "I decided I wanted a change to something less physically demanding." Ellie wanted to leave the clinical field but still use her background knowledge. She switched to the Medical Record Department of St. John's Hospital in Lowell, her long-time employer.

"I liked working with medical records," Ellie says, "and there are good opportunities for advancement in the field, but only if you have a degree." Ellie decided to study at Northern Essex – it was close to home, no other nearby college had a program in Medical Records, and she could study at night and still manage her job.

Ellie graduated in 1989 with an associate's degree from NECC in Medical Record Technology, receiving a Student Achievement Award from the Massachusetts Medical Record Association for academic excellence.

Currently, Ellie is responsible for the coding section of St. John's Medical Record Department. "I like interacting with the medical staff and keeping documentation straight," Ellie says. "I also like working in a field with an increasing pay rate and lots of opportunity for future growth."

Bentley To Host Annual College Fair

Admission officers from more than 200 private and public colleges and universities in New England will participate in the 1989 College Fair at Bentley College on Sunday, Sept. 24, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The event, now in its 10th year at the college's Waltham campus, is spondored by Bentley and the New England Association of College Admissions Counselors. It will be held in the Charles A. Dana Athletic Center.

Selecting the proper college or university can be confusing and complicated for high school seniors and their parents. Those attending the fair can discuss their educational and career plans, admission requirements and procedures, scholarship and financial aid opportunities and more with admission counselors.

Last year's NEACAC college fair attracted approximately 4,000 high school juniors and seniors, parents, teachers and guidance counselors.

The event at Bentley is one of 13 major regional college fairs sponsored by the NEACAC and host colleges and universities throughout New England this fall.

James Verschueren, director of the Elderhostel Institute Network, will be the featured speaker. He is the former New England regional director of Elderhostel.

The Center for Creative Aging is for people from all walks of life who have one thing in common-they want to continue learning. The center emphasizes members' participation in all aspects and invites members to contribute their experience and talent in planning and carrying out educational programs according to their interests and skills.

For further information, contact Dr. Jane Toot, director of the center, or Dr. Charles Clayman, director of college-/community/corporate relations.

joying A New England Fall

By Ashley McCown

According to Indian legend, red leaves symbolize the killing of the Great Bear of the Heavens and yellow leaves represent the cooking fires. Whatever the cause, Massachusetts residents know that the weeks to follow will be filled with lazy, Indian summer days, a perfect time to drive along country roads, explore small towns and buy apples and pumpkins at roadside stands. Wherever their travels take them, visitors are always surrounded by the fiery glow of changing leaves.

Massachusetts' foliage season begins in mid- to late September and ends in mid-to late October with peak color lasting for 10 days to two weeks in each area. The color begins in the western part of the state and moves eastward to Boston, the North Shore, Cape Cod and the islands.

The most famous foliage route in Massachusetts is the Mohawk Trail. Running across the state's northern tier, the Mohawk Trail runs west from Orange to North Adams on Route 2. The trail was one of the first roads in the United States designed for automobile touring and the 14 state parks and forests along the way offer many outstanding viewing opportunities. The best viewing time on the trail and other main roads is midweek.

Travelers can enjoy superb color at a leisurely pace by driving along less-frequently traveled roads. Route 8 in the Berkshires runs from Sandisfield to Dalton with beautiful state forests on either end. The secondary roads of routes 116 and 9 in the Pioneer Valley wind through rolling countryside and picturesque hill towns. A color show of a different nature awaits visitors in southeastern Massachusetts where the cranberry bogs turn ruby-red and the blueberry and blackberry bushes turn a muted crimson against the blue sea.

There are adventurous and innovative ways to view the changing colors. High in a hot air balloon, the foliage is an endless path of blazing color as far as the eye can see. Several Bay State balloon companies offer flights ranging from a sunrise flight for two complete with champagne to larger balloons that can accommodate up to seven passengers. Massachusetts balloon companies include Adventures of New Bedford, Aeronauts Unlimited, Balloon School of Massachuseetts and Silver Eagle Balloon Co.

Hang gliding from Skinner Mountain in Hadley or Mount Greylock in Lanesboro allows fliers to study crimson, gold and red trees at their own pace.

The chairlift rides at Mont Tom in Holyoke and Wachusett Mountain in Princeton take passengers to the mountain tops with spectacular views of the valleys below.

Return to the days of travel by rail and hop aboard the special three-day excursion sponsored by the Mystic Valley Rail-

State Offers Foliage Guide

Travelers planning to enjoy Massachusetts' glorious fall foliage can take advantage of a comprehensive foliage guide and events calendar free from the Massachusetts Office of Travel and Tourism.

The Spirit of Massachusetts Fall Foliage Guide is packed with great ideas for long vacations or quick, get-away trips. The guide provides a map showing the spread of color, main foliage driving routes and less-traveled "shunpike" alternatives and unusual ways to see the brilliant color show.

The list of fall activities includes hiking trails in state forests and parks and wildlife sanctuaries, bicycle paths and special fall train excursions. For water enthusiasts, the guide lists boat rides and canoe rental services. For those who would like a bird's-eye view of the leaves there are chairlift rides, hang-gliding sites and hot air balloon companies.

The guide is accompanied by a calender of events that lists more than 400 fairs, festivals and celebrations throughout the state.

Bluegrass Band To Open Coffeehouse Concert Series

A bluegrass band, Southern Rail, will kick off the Crossroads Coffeehouse concert series Saturday, Sept. 9, with a program of gospel quartets, acapella songs, trios and old-style brother duets. "Brother Al" Brenner will open the program at 8 p.m.

Concerts are held in the parish hall of the North Parish Unitarian Church, 190 Academy Road, North Andover. Doors open at 7:15. Home-baked desserts, teas and coffees are sold before the concert and during the break.

Massachusetts-based Southern Rail was formed in 1979 by lead vocalists Jim Muller and Sharon Horovitch. They have performed along the east coast, gaining a reputation for their creative harmonies and original material. They have two albums to their credit, Looking for the Lighthouse and the most recent Home.

Dave Dick, banjoist and baritone, and Jim Rohre, mandolinist and bass singer, round out the band. Mr. Dick won the world banjo championship in 1981 and other awards and has extensive recording experience. Mr. Rohrer has close to 20 years experience on the mandolin.

Crossroads was started last spring by parishioners at the North Parish Church to provide an intimate setting for all ages to listen to live music.

Additional concerts have been scheduled throughout the fall on the second Saturday of each month. Southern Rail will be followed by Patty Larkin, Sally Rogers and Flor de Cana.

Andover Theatre Company is holding auditions for Neil Simon's Chapter Two at the Bancroft School Elementary cafetorium on Bancroft Road Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 12 and 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Andover Groups Collect For MDA

Andover firefighters and letter carriers set up a "voluntary toll booth" on Main Street. The money they collected went to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Above, Andover letter carrier and resident Paula Cardran collects funds from a motorist. Ms. Cardran and her fellow Post Office employees collected over $1,000 in a few hours. At left, Scott Gorrie, a 17-year veteran of the Fire Department, gives a thank-you MDA sticker to a contributor. Firefighter Todd Pomerleau presented a $5,000 check to the association during its annual telethon Sunday. Mr. Pomerleau, Cliff Pattullo and Eric Teichert coordinated the drive for the Fire Department, which has collected donations for MDA since 1985.

EARTHFOOD NEWS

by Glenda McKertich

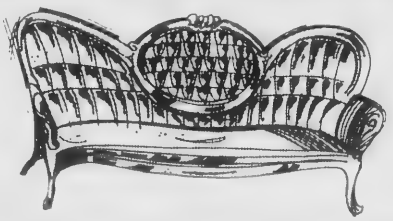

A TYPES

Vitamin A is available in two forms. The first, retinol, is the preformed type that can be used instantly by the body. It is found only in animal foods. The second, carotene (or beta-carotene), is a precursor to vitamin A. It is found in fruits and vegetables, and must be converted by the body to the retinol-type before it can be utilized. At one time, vitamin A was measured in "international units" (IU's). However, now that it is known that carotene-conversion takes place in the body, vitamin A is measured in "retinol equivalents" (RE's). The National Academy of Sciences now lists the recommended daily allowances for vitamin A is RE's. As a rule, an RE equals 10 IU's of beta-carotene (plants) and 3.33 IY's of vitamin A from animal sources.

Vitamin A is beneficial to your eyes and skin, as well as aiding in the growth and repair of body tissues. Vitamin A deficiency can lead to night blindness, and slow growth of bones and teeth in children. Visit THE EARTHFOOD STORE, 24 Park St., behind "old" town hall. Call 475-1234. There's ample parking. We have healthy, natural groceries, vitamins and supplements of all kinds, and all natural beauty products. We can supply sound, reliable information on food products and supplements.

P.S. Vitamin A is fairly resistant to heat, but it is sensitive to light.

September Named Cat Health Month

The American Veterinary Medical Association has declared September as National Cat Health Month, a public service effort that educates cat owners about the health and medical needs of their pets. For the fourth consecutive year, Morris the Cat will serve as "spokescat" for the program.

During September he'll make rounds with his consulting veterinarian, Laura Pasten, addressing a top concern: his fellow felines need vital checkups and preventative vaccines to stay healthy.

"We all know that hindsight is 20/20," said area veterinarians. "Often, we hear cat owners who have lost a pet regretfully say, 'I should have taken my cat to the veterinarian earlier. I could tell he wasn't his same old self.'"

According to area veterinarians, problems arise because cats frequently hide their illnesses. A cat may appear to be the picture of health, when, in fact, it is suffering from a life-threatening disease. Often only a thorough veterinary examination or laboratory test can detect a cat health problem.

"Through Cat Health Month, we encourage more and more cat owners to have the good vision to consult a veterinarian regularly for their pets," said area veterinarians. "And it's clear our efforts are working. Since the program began, we've seen a dramatic increase in the number of feline visits to veterinarians. But there's more to accomplish."

A recent study commissioned by the AVMA reveals that 40 percent of cat-owning households still do not seek regular medical attention for their feline companions. As a result, millions of cats die unnecessarily each year from diseases that could have been prevented through simple vaccinations.

For the first time the AVMA Council on Biologic and Therapeutic Agents has developed specific guidelines regarding immunization schedules for cats. The report recommends that cats be vaccinated against such common feline diseases as panleukipenia (distemper), pneumonitis, calicivirus and rhinotracheitis at about 2 months of age with repeat vaccinations at 3 months and a yearly booster thereafter.

Vaccines for feline leukemia, a disease that attacks the immune system in cats and affects nearly half of all felines sometime in their lives, should be administered at 2 months of age, with follow-up vaccinations at 3 months, 5 months and then annually. And, according to the council, cats should receive rabies vaccinations at 3 months as well as annually.

"Vaccination schedules may vary

Collins Center Subcommittee Changes Recommendations

By Lisa A. Boudreau

The J. Everett Collins Center subcommittee nixed the idea of including three School Committee members on the Collins Center board.

At a meeting last Thursday, subcommittee member Jack Dziadul said he didn't want the line between public and private groups blurred. "We do not want to confuse the issue of a private or public body," he said.

An eight-member board of trustees oversees the Andover Endowment for the Arts, which is a private, non-profit organization. The board was appointed by former Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark and then became incorporated for liability reasons.

The subcommittee also made additions to recommendations for an agreement between the School Committee and the endowment. Members suggested a model diagram explaining how to apply for access to the Collins Center. The diagram would be posted along with the center's calendar of events. Mr. Dziadul, who with Dana Hirst was assigned to investigate the AEA contract, also proposed an arbitration process to air grievances about the center.

Mr. Dziadul's previous recommendations, made at the subcommittee's Aug. 9 meeting, include:

•Keeping the AEA under contract with the School Committee;

•Keeping the AEA private for liability reasons;

•Putting AEA management contracts to subjective, negotiated bid to include consideration of Andover-based non-profit cultural groups;

•Making user categories to determine rental fees consistent with Department of Community Services' definitions;

•Charging Andover cultural groups nominal rental fees with DCS charges for other public buildings as a guide;

•Posting all AEA meetings and holding them in public buildings;

•Encouraging more intensive use of the center;

ATC Negotiates For Center Use

By Lisa A. Boudreau

If all goes as planned, The Andover Theatre Company may be making music on the stage of the J. Everett Collins Center come January with their production of The Music Man.

Andover Endowment for the Arts, the non-profit group that runs the facility, has come under fire recently for allegedly keeping community groups from the center by charging high rental fees. ATC has been one of the more vocal community groups in making these charges.

At last Thursday night's Collins Center subcommittee meeting the AEA announced that preliminary negotiations were underway with the theater company for renting the facility.

Planners Consider Apartment Complex

By Frank Messina

A proposed 18-unit apartment building will top a full agenda for the Planning Board Tuesday night.

Neighbors of the planned Longwood Corners apartments at High and Haverhill streets, who showed up at a Zoning Board of Appeals hearing on the project last month, are expected to return and express their concerns over traffic and drainage issues.

The board will review Longwood site plans and likely make a decision at a future meeting. ZBA members have indicated they will wait for input from the Planning Board before ruling on the special permit application submitted by Picwel Builders Inc.

Plans call for two buildings to be built on the 64,000-square foot property, which currently holds one single-family home. The lot is the last buildable parcel in the apartment zone in that section of Andover and sits between two condominium complexes.

The board will also discuss plans to develop an eight-acre estate at 290 South Main St., which is currently home to the Network, a non-profit education center.

Owners David and San Crandall plan to turn the property into a group of high-priced homes to blend in with the million-dollar houses in the neighborhood.

The project calls for five lots, with each home sitting on parcels ranging from slightly larger than one acre to almost two acres. An existing home built in 1904 that houses the Network organization will stay on the land.

In other action, the board, originally scheduled to strip a bond from developer Jack Magee in order to lay sidewalks in the Orchard Crossing subdivision, recently received word that work has been completed.

Angry Orchard Street residents had complained to the board that Mr. Magee hadn't followed through on the promised work. When the developer failed to appear at an August board meeting, the planners scheduled a public hearing to take the approximately $40,000 bond.

ZBA Asked To Overturn Town Hall Decisions

By Frank Messina

Tonight local attorney Gerald Cohen, representing separate clients, will ask the Zoning Board of Appeals to overturn two recent decisions by head building inspector Sam DeSalvo.

The ZBA meeting will be held in the School Committee room at the district offices at 7 p.m.

The first prevents Brookside Estates condominiums in West Andover from installing a sign that Mr. DeSalvo says is oversize, exceeding town regulations.

Mr. Cohen is maintaining that the building inspector included in his measurements, the dimensions of a decorative fence, to which the sign is attached.

In an unrelated case before the ZBA, the Andover lawyer also disagrees wtih Mr. DeSalvo's defining of a lot at Wood-Ayers Mills on Stevens Street.

The property is split by Stevens Street, and the building inspector ruled that for purposes of building it is considered two lots. Mr. Cohen is asking the ZBA to rule that it is a single lot.

Also before the board is a renewal application for plans to build an enclosed riding arena on Lowell Street near the 99 Restaurant in West Andover.

Richard Donovan of Andover first won ZBA approval for plans in August, 1987. However, when applying for the building permit, Mr. Donovan miscalculated the approval expiration date, and the permit lapsed.

The plans call for a 200-by-80-foot arena. Vegetation will be planted to screen the building on its north and west sides.

The junior varsity football team is pumped and ready to represent Andover on the many playing fields they will soon be entering.

Players have had a full schedule of practices to prepare themselves for the new season, which kicks off next week.

Marcy Marxer performs folk songs for children during the Bread & Roses festival on Campagnone Common in Lawrence. She is accompanied by a signer for the hearing impaired. The annual Labor Day festival which celebrates the workers of the Merrimack Valley, plays host to many different performances which showcase all the different cultures that make up not only the city of Lawrence, but the world.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — September 1889

Mr. Richard Finlay and Miss Fannie Cumurford were united in marriage by Rev. F.A. Wilson at the Free Church parsonage last Wednesday. The newly married couple received many useful and costly presents. They will reside on Maple Avenue.

The Engine Co. took the steamer and Hook and Ladder Truck out for practice last Wednesday night. The engine was found to be in first rate condition and the men of both companies showed marked improvement in the handling of the machinery.

The Niotus club went to Lawrence last Saturday and defeated the Lawrence Canoe club by a score of 13 to 7. The game was very interesting and the playing of the Niotus club a great improvement on the previous game. At the end of the second inning the score was 5 to 1 in favor of the Canoe club, but the Niotus club braced and by brilliant batting and daring base running they took the lead in the third inning and retained it to the close of the game.

The selectmen will meet next Friday, September 13.

Mr. Edward F. Foster spent Labor Day at Nantucket.

Misses Nellie and Kate Howard are at Marblehead Neck.

Mr. S. Sheply of Newport Vt. is visiting Mr. Leon Spaulding.

Mr. Goerge H. Parker spent a few days this week at Norwich, Conn.

Mr. Charles Jewett spent a few days this week visiting friends in Providence.

Misses Minnie and Louise Carruth of West Andover are visiting friends. The new course at Punchard, instituted by Principal Baldwin last year, preparing the graduates for college, was clearly a success as demonstrated by the numbers going on to higher education in the fall. This course has been beneficial to the educational interests, encouraging the young people in town to an advancement in their studies, with seven members of the class of '89 planning to go onto college, or the State Normal school.

Mr. Batcholder is sick and under the care of Dr. Shattuck.

Wednesday afternoon Joseph Doucett, a six year old boy, fell from the inner railing of the iron bridge which spans the Shawsheen river, a distance of several feet, dislocating his shoulder and fracturing the humerus of the right elbow. Dr. Shattuck was called.

75 Years Ago — September 1914

Miss Lena Lundgren of Whittier street has entered the employ of the Andover Steam Laundry.

John Collins, driver of the town water wagon, is having a ten days' vacation. S. T. Shattuck is taking his place.

Mrs. A. N. Bean returned Wednesday to her home on Washington avenue after several weeks spent in Dexter, Me.

Miss Beatrice F. Murphy of the F. H. Stacey pharmacy, has returned from vacation spent at Old Orchard Beach, Me.

Miss Katherine A. Barnett of Indianapolis, Ind., leaves tomorrow for her home, after visiting relatives and friends here.

Mrs. William B. Morse, Miss Grace Morse, and Arthur Morse have returned to their home in Chapion court after summering in their camp at Foster's pond.

Rev. Newman Mathews of the West church preached at the Free church last Sunday, the pastor, Mr. Wilson, being ill with the grip.

James A. Duval, employed at the Wood mill, is enjoying a ten days' vacation which he is spending at different points of interest.

Miss Florence West and Miss Grace Livingston of the Smith & Dove office have returned home after a trip abroad as one of the winners in the Lawrence Telegram voting contest.

Fruits and vegetables are wanted in abundance as well as flowers at the annual Flower Show to be held in the town hall next Friday and Saturday.

Rev. E. Victor Bigelow will resume his pulpit at the South church next Sunday.

The number of books issued for home use at the Memorial Hall Library during August was 2,681. At Ballardvale, 728 books were borrowed for home use.

Miss Gladys M. Dill has returned to her duties in the Archaeology Department of Phillips Academy, from her vacation spent in New Brunswick and York Beach.

Ellsworth Pierce of the Scotland District left Andover Tuesday for North Sandwich, N.H., where he will make his home. Mr. Pierce, who has bought a farm in that town, formerly lived on the John B. Abbott homestead at the corner of Wildwood road and Main street.

Investing In The Future

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

As Congress reconvenes and begins deliberations on the defense budget and the federal deficit reminds us of the decline in U.S. share of world markets in comparison with Japan and Europe, we in the Merrimack Valley must heed the warnings made clear by plant closings at Craig Systems in Amesbury and GTE in Billerica.

Instead of waiting for the crisis of massive unemployment known all too well in this region, we have the opportunity to plan toward economic diversification.

The permanent war economy decreases our employment rates and world market share. It is not true that conversion from military to civilian production causes increased unemployment. One billion dollars creates 14,000 jobs in guided missiles and ordnance, 48,000 in hospitals and 62,000 in education.

In 1986, the United States committed 32 percent of research and development funds to defense, compared with Japan's .7 percent and West Germany's 5.1 percent. Fifty-four percent of each federal income tax dollar goes to military use.

True security lies in economic and environmental health. We need to invest our financial and scientific resources into solving the problems of global warming, ozone layer depletion, toxic waste cleanup and development of safe and efficient energy sources. The $68 billion requested for the stealth bomber program would provide two-thirds of the funds needed to clean up U.S. water supplies by the year 2000.

Congressional legislation to help industries diversify from military to economic production is pending, initiated by Reps. Sam Gedjensen of Connecticut and Ted Weiss of New York. Our community would be wise to begin a dialogue with one other and with our legislators to support such planning toward true security.

Appalled At Cutting From Elder Services

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

What can you buy for $1,800? Perhaps a VCR and big screen TV, a used car? Whatever you choose to spend it on, it probably won't last as long as you would like. Well, for each of the 41,000 frail older adults across the state, $1,800 buys a lifetime. It buys a year's worth of home-care services allowing our parents and grandparents to live independently in their own homes.

As a lifelong resident of Massachusetts and executive director of Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley, I am appalled that in July the governor cut over $7 million in fiscal year 1990 state home care funds targeted to the most frail of our elder population. I want to point out that cutting back cost-effective home-care services will have a severe impact on the quality of life for our older citizens and may result in unnecessary institutional care, which is far more expensive to the commonwealth.

I can't begin to convey the difficulty Elder Services' staff has had in cutting services to very frail elder adults. Families and older individuals themselves call for assistance and describe their need for help.

As our legislative delegation returns to session in September, they can return with even greater resolve to cut spending in crucial programs such as home care or they can return armed with the knowledge that their constituents, elders and family members alike, want an adequate level of funding for programs such as home care.

Frail older citizens must not bear the burden of the state's financial woes. Our legislators need to hear from all of us that we want our older citizens, parents and neighbors to have access to needed services.

Rosanne J. DiStefano
Executive Director
Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Thank you for your recognition and appreciation. I know I've angered some people this past year but, as you so eloquently expressed it, I've tried to serve the best interests of the community as I read them.

I will miss this job dearly; it's like leaving home after 16 years.

I'm just thankful for those who acknowledge that I've worked hard and tried to serve Andover well.

SPORTING LIFE

Collins Mixes Recipe For Football Team's Success

By Rick Harrison

Size up front, speed and power in the backfield, a trio of quarterbacks who can throw the ball and three veteran receivers who have already shown they can catch it.

With those offensive credentials it's hard not to get excited about the 1989 Andover High football team.

Although enthusiasm must be tempered by the knowledge that the Golden Warriors compete in a tough league, it's still reasonable to believe head coach Dick Collins has a good shot at producing his 28th winning season in 31 tries this fall.

The AHS coaching staff put 73 candidates through rigorous two- and three-a-day sessions last week, with split-squad scrimmages Saturday against Marlboro and Greater Lowell Regional wrapping up the activities.

Yesterday Andover scrimmaged Bedford High, and the traditional 30th consecutive scrimmage against Wellesley Saturday morning at 10 at Eugene Lovely Field will help fine tune the Warriors' machine for a very tough home opener Friday night, Sept. 15, at 7 p.m. against visiting Chelmsford.

Highlighting the pre-season has been a spirited battle for the vacated No. 1 quarterback position, and whoever eventually lands the job should be sharp after working hard to nail it down.

An added incentive this fall, especially for veteran players, will be to bounce back from a rare sub-.500 season as late losses to Tewksbury and Thanksgiving Day rival Central Catholic left Andover with a final 4-5-1 mark last year.

Collins begins his 31st campaign with over 160 career victories, six Merrimack Valley Conference championships, two Eastern Mass. Division 2 Super Bowl titles (1974-'75) and 27 winning seasons.

Andover is the only EMass. Division 2 school to appear in three consecutive Super Bowls and the only one to win two straight since the post-season classics were conceived in 1972.

Collins is second among active coaches in MVC longevity, trailing only dean Ed Murphy (44th year) whose Dracut team won its first Division 2 Super Bowl last December.

Who's Who?

The Golden Warriors graduated a number of key players, including quarterback Kurt Brucato (Ithaca College), quarterback-safety Steve Surette (Middlesex Community College), wide receiver and scoring leader Jack Dalton (New Hampton Prep), center-middle guard Stefan Kelly (New Haven), fullback Paul DeMarco (Worcester Academy), tailback Chris McAnally (Boston College), lineman Tom Benanchetti (Hobart) and two-year placekicker Andy Weiner.

Leading the list of returning players are eight offensive and three defensive starters.

Veterans on the attack are senior flankerback and Co-Capt. John Thompson (6-4, 195), whose five TD receptions and 30 points last fall were second to Dalton's totals of eight and 48, senior receiver and Co-Capt. Brian Donnellan (6-0, 200), junior end Brett Hammond (6-0, 205) and senior tailback Dave Tucker (6-0, 195).

The interior line returns virtually intact except for Stefan Kelly. The guards are senior Paul Lembo (5-11, 208) and juplacement or other services. Senior Center staff can also help when you've tried everywhere and can't get an answer. If we don't have the information or assistance, we will help you find it.

Fortunately, many people know they can count on the Senior Center for help. Several people living at the Andover Commons were afraid to contact the police about thefts in their apartments for fear of retribution or eviction. When they contacted the Senior Center they were assured of their rights as tenants and citizens and were able to help the police stop a serious problem of theft of prescription drugs from elderly and handicapped people.

If you are calling to speak to a certain staff member and he or she is unavailable, leave your name and phone number and a message about your problem. Often the clerks answering the phones can answer questions if the person you are calling is away. If you would rather wait, all you have to do is leave your name and phone number or just your number. We will get back to you. No one in Andover should be afraid to call for help for any reason.

Girls' Soccer Still Smarting From Last Year's Hurt

By Rick Harrison

Members of the Andover High girls' varsity soccer team have thought about it for 10 long months.

Two years ago they shared the state title with Agawam and last fall, after breezing through the regular season undefeated with shutouts in 16 of 18 games, it appeared as though the Lady Warriors were destined to reach the state final again.

But a not-so-funny thing happened on the way to the final.

Upstart Acton-Boxboro got in the way and upset the two-time defending Merrimack Valley Conference champions, 2-1, in the Eastern Mass. North Sectional title game.

"Almost everyone is back from that (AHS) team," said Coach Dick Loschi, "and the girls all realize they gave away a golden opportunity last year.

"They understand they took Acton-Boxboro too lightly and know how much it cost them.

"Our girls had a taste of the championship two years ago, and now they want to prove to people it wasn't a fluke. That will really help motivate them this year. And as seniors they'd like to go out in grand style.

"I don't think we'll be overconfident this year."

Volleyball Shoots For The Stars

By Rick Harrison

Playing in the toughest girls' volleyball league in the state, Andover High Coach George Sullivan feels his 1989 team has the potential to surpass the 13-7 overall mark chalked up by last year's Eastern Mass. Tournament qualifier.

Reaching for the stars?

"I think we have a better shot this year because we're primarily a senior team," explained Sullivan, whose first crack at coaching the sport last season produced the school's best regular season finish ever (12-6) in the Merrimack Valley Conference and a trip to the tourney's sectional semifinals.

Andover coasted past Greater-Lowell Regional 2-0 in the opening round and then bowed to perennial power Stoneham in the semifinals.

"Last year really stirred the interest in the sport, which is the fastest growing sport in America," said Sullivan. "Look what the Olympics has done for volleyball, and even the popularity of beach volleyball at Hampton and Salisbury."

Sullivan ran a summer clinic for younger kids through the town's Department of er Andrea Duffy, the co-captains and backbone of a defense that may not allow a goal this year.

Ricci was in net for most of the 18 shutouts last season, while Duffy was primarily responsible for keeping the ball away from Nicole.

Other veteran members of one of the state's stingiest defensive corps are senior stopperback Lisa Berberian, senior fullback Michelle DeStefano and senior wing fullback Brenna Cronin.

Seniors Kathy Doran and Jodi Saunders are back to patrol the midfield area, while returning forwards are seniors Suzanne Gianelly and Erin Lynch.

Additional letterwinners from last year are senior midfielder Michelle Vetrano, junior middie Jen Butt, junior forwards Lisa Allen and Anne Murnane, and senior goalie Andrea Georgian.

Elevated from the JV team, which put together a spectacular 17-1-0 season of its own with the only loss to Weymouth South (2-1), are sophomore fullback Amy Heseltine, junior forward Nicole Angelos, senior halfbacks Gwen Duff and Kara Slavin, senior forward Jen Sonntag and junior halfback Darlene Prochniak.

Defense Strong

"Defense and goalkeeping are our major strengths," said Loschi. "Our midfielders are very skilled at controlling their area, and if there's a weakness it could be scoring.

"We lost Kerry, who was very aggressive offensively, but Gianelly and Butt were consistent goalscorers last year and Kathy Doran had a lot of assists."

Community Services and received a good response, while many of his players attended a well-known volleyball camp at Bentley College.

"We're a very aggressive team that should excel defensively and overall in the backcourt," said Sullivan. "I believe we're sharper and quicker this year. Since we're not very deep or very big we have to be quick.

"The biggest project is finding someone to take Julie Salazar's hitting spot. We've done well in scrimmages so far, but it's hard to say whether we're that strong or the opponents are that weak."

The Lady Warriors beat up on first-year team Alvirne High of Hudson, N.H., and then fared well against a more established Salem, N.H., squad. North Reading was to be the final tuneup.

The season opens next Wednesday in Dunn Gymnasium against visiting Billerica, a good test for Andover right off the bat.

Personnel

Key graduates were Julie Salazar (now at Ithaca College); Kristen Sullivan (Ave Maria) and Allison Wright (UMass-Amherst).

Diabetic Foot Care

We care for people... not just feet

Over time, poor blood circulation caused by diabetes can take a heavy toll on skin, nails and nerves. Persons who contract diabetes should seek an initial foot care evaluation by a podiatrist and continue to have regular check ups.

Any foot infection, redness, ingrown nails, numbness, pain or skin discoloration should be attended to immediately. Prompt action is important because diabetes can affect the nerves and result in odd pain sensations or lack of feeling.

We are foot care specialists who place a high priority on personal care and patient education. Call us today.

Andover was 1-1-1 in its first three practice games, whose scores don't really mean very much.

A 2-0 loss to Belmont can be attributed to Loschi trying to get a good look at 44 players. That was followed by a 7-0 annihilation of defending Eastern Mass. Division 2 North Sectionalchamp Pentucket Regional, who may have been decimated by graduation, and a 1-1 stalemate with Winchester.

Although Andover has not lost a Merrimack Valley Conference game in the league's two-year existence, Loschi still feels adequate challenges will be provided by Chelmsford, Billerica and a quickly improving Wilmington team.

Non-league games will be against Foxboro, Weymouth South, Bridgewater-Raynham, former five-time state Division 1 champ Concord-Carlisle, Beverly and North Andover.

That's a formidable half dozen, but the schedule favors AHS this year as all but the North Andover game will be played at Lovely Field.

Eleven of the Lady Warriors' 18 regular season games are at home.

Super Record

Loschi enters his fifth season as head coach and 10th year with the Andover program, sporting a sensational 61-12-8 overall record.

The Lady Warriors have won whatever league title was up for grabs each of the last four years, preceding the two MVC championships with a Cape Ann League crown in 1986 and an Independent League title in '85.

Karl Lippmann, whose daughter Kendra was an excellent girls' soccer player at North Andover High, has moved from freshman to junior varsity coach.

Matt Hayden is the new freshman skipper.

The season opens next Tuesday night at 7 when Chelmsford invades Lovely Field.

practice session, including top veterans and returning MVC All-Stars Cate Doherty and Grace Park.

Both are seniors, Doherty specializing in hitting and serving, while Park is a setter and defensive standout.

Senior hitter-server Laura Hebeisen and junior setter-defender Nicole Thompson also played regularly last fall.

Additional letter-winners were seniors Kim Daley, Kristen Johnson and Melissa Salazar.

Daley is a leading server, aided somewhat by the fact she's a lefty whose serve has a natural curve, just as in baseball a southpaw's pitches automatically bend and tail.

Johnson and Salazar are most at home in the backcourt.

The top new player from last year's outstanding 18-3 junior varsity team is sophomore Lea Conserva.

Sullivan thinks Daley, Doherty and Hebeisen will balance the loss of Julie Salazar.

"Laura Hebeisen could be a sleeper. She could emerge into a major volleyball talent," said Sullivan.

Championships In 86th Year

The Willows Racquet Club in North Andover was host to the 86th anniversary men's singles and doubles tennis championships.

The singles category was won by Robert Cantu of Concord, ranked sixth in New England. He defeated Mike Geiger of Woburn, a newcomer to New England tennis, in a hard-hitting final 6-2, 6-4.

R. Cantu paired with Ed Fenno of Wellesley to win the finals over sixth-ranked Keith Collar of Revere and John DeDomenico of Billerica, champions here in 1987 and runners-up in 1984 and 1985. The winning score was 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Chris Post, now of Natick but raised in Andover, played for the 16th straight time in this tournament. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Post of 9 Beech Circle, Mr. Post has been singles runner-up on seven occasions and champion in 1979, 1982 and 1985.

This year he defeated Mr. Fenno 6-4, 7-5, and ran into a three-hour-and-20-minute struggle against Bob Gambale of Lowell, whom he defeated 7-6, 7-5. On the court again an hour later, he lost to eventual tournament runner-up Mike Geiger by a winning score of 7-5, 6-1.

First held in 1903, the Essex County men's singles and doubles tennis tournamen is the oldest on the New England circuit.

It was held at the Oldtown Country Club on the Parker River in Newbury from 1903 until the first World War precluded such tournaments after 1916.

As was the custom in early tournaments, the champion of the previous year's singles did not have to play in the "open" tournament. Instead he "stood" against the "playing through tournament" winner for a three of five set match to determine who held the title for the ensuing year.

The Dodge family of Newburyport competed in and conducted the tournaments through 1916 and are reported to have been very successful as hosts to the players and as tournament managers.

Since the Oldtown Country Club had not reconditioned their courts after the wartime hiatus, the tournament was moved to the North Andover Country Club in 1919, under the direction of the late Sam Rockwell and his family, who continue to run the men's singles and doubles. Nine Rockwells—Mabel, Bill, Tom, Shawn, Charlene, Brad, Tyler, Maria and Tim—composed the 1987 committee.

The tournaments moved to the Willows Racquet Club in 1986.

Golf Tournament Slated

The fourth annual Hampton Beach Area Chamber of Commerce Golf Scramble will take place Sept. 25 at the Wentworth-by-the-Sea golf club.

A buffet lunch will be served at noon and shotgun tee-off is a 1:15 p.m. The format, as explained by Bob Krieger, chairman of the event, is a five-person team scramble with each team comprised of an A, B, C, D and F player.

The entry fee includes greens tees, golf cart, golf shirt, golf balls, lunch and prizes.

Contact the chamber, 836 Lafayette Road, Hampton, N.H., for registration information.

nior Stefan Fodor (6-2, 215), and the Twin Towers at tackle are junior Joe Marinaro (6-3, 245) and sophomore Eric Greenstein (6-3, 256).

"We've had a few players heavier than Eric, including one this year," said Collins, "but none of them were as tall. He's the biggest sophomore we've had, and he's going to be one heck of a player."

Veterans on defense are senior outside linebacker Glenn Driscoll (5-10, 190), senior back Peter Reming (5-8, 155) and junior back Dave Blank (6-0, 195).

Blank, who had a number of interceptions last year, is slowed by an ankle injury suffered during the American Legion baseball season this past summer.

"Dave will help tremendously once he's healthy," noted Collins, "but the first week he wasn't able to participate in the drills."

Lettermen

The Golden Warriors also have numerous lettermen returning, including quarterback hopefuls Pat Finn (6-0, 155), Matt Perry (5-10, 160) and Jeff Hurley (5-10, 155).

Finn (who will also do the punting) is a senior; Perry and Hurley are juniors; and the difference in ability among the trio is slight.

"I have a pretty good idea who'll be starting," revealed Collins. "But the competition's healthy, and I don't want to say anything just yet. All three are good athletes, and it's conceivable two of them could play other positions."

Perry and Hurley are varsity basketballers as well, and Perry is the fourth in a line of talented brothers who all played quarterback or wide receiver for past Andover teams.

A fourth quarterback candidate, who started at defensive back last year, would have been junior Joe Iarrobino (5-10, 165).

Iarrobino, however, separated his shoulder last season, and after several recurrences of the injury during baseball, he had major reconstructive surgery performed over the summer.

Returning lettermen in the backfield are senior flanker-defensive back Curt Soloman (5-11, 170), senior halfback Tom Debenedictis (5-8, 150) and senior halfback Jeff Ring (5-11, 195).

Ring played in the varsity backfield as a sophomore but missed last season with an injury.

"Jeff has tremendous speed," said Collins, who also coaches the Northern Area 100-meter dash champion and MVC All-Conference selection in track.

Offensive and defensive ends who received their letters last year are seniors Jeff Conley (5-9, 160), Hunter Lochmann (6-2, 190) and Glen Kunene (5-9, 150).

Lochmann, another varsity basketball player, saw considerable time as a defensive end last fall.

Additional interior linemen include junior center Ryan Beal (6-2, 230), senior center Dan Moynihan (6-0, 205), senior guard Craig Soboleski (5-8, 170), senior guard Eric Milne (5-10, 190) and junior tackle Mark Avery (5-11, 210).

Avery is another player whose progress was impeded by a nagging injury, in his case a bruised shoulder.

"We've had a lot of fluke injuries that happened in non-contact situations," said Collins.

Varsity Newcomers

Senior Albie Minichiello(5-6, 140) appears to have inherited the conversion placekicking duties from Andy Weiner.

The Golden Warriors have produced a long line of outstanding PAT kickers, dating back to Scott Seero and current special teams volunteer Coach Peter Reilly. Weiner was successful on 15 extra points last year.

While Minichiello handles the conversions it should be either John Thompson or Brett Hammond doing the kicking off.

Newcomers to the varsity interior line, most of whom played JV last season, are junior center Scott Bernard (5-6, 230), senior center John Tapia (5-10, 185), junior guard Wil Lowry (5-9, 170), senior tackle Dan Neely who is Andover's biggest player at 6-1, 270 pounds, junior tackle Chris Jarvis (6-0, 220) and junior guard Chris Costa (5-9, 165).

Three juniors working out at end are Andy Carleton (6-1, 180), Chris Davis (6-2, 185) and Ryan Gilday (5-10, 165).

Others in the offensive backfield include junior halfback Greg Dyer (5-6, 145), senior fullback Matt Hashem (5-10, 175), junior fullback Mark Dodge (5-10, 195) and senior fullback Joe Licata (6-1, 190).

Licata is a welcome-back transfer from Austin Prep who also plays defensive guard. He saw plenty of action as a sophomore at AP and figures prominently into Collins' plans.

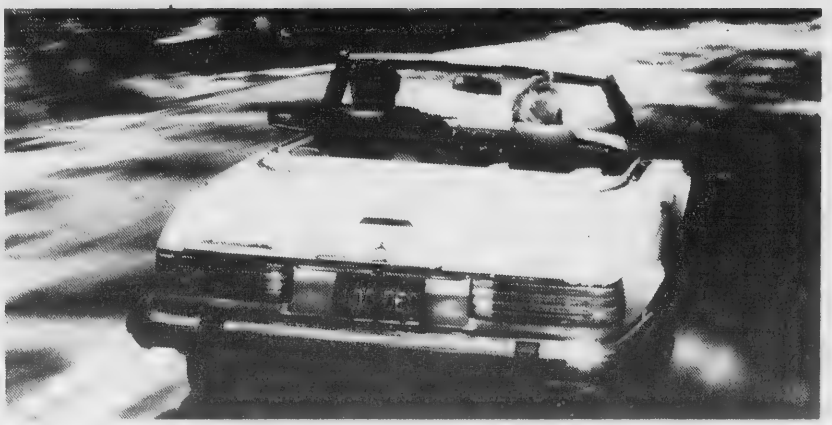

Evaluation

"We're comparable in size to any team we've had recently," said Collins. "But we're also young up front. There are five underclassmen, and only two seniors, in the starting line.

"We feel we can throw the ball with any of the three quarterbacks, and we have excellent receivers in Thompson, Donnellan and Hammond.

"This is the most depth we've had at quarterback in a long time. Despite the inexperience there is good talent at the position."

Finn, Perry and/or Hurley will also be perpetuating a long line of outstanding passing quarterbacks at AHS, whose usually explosive run-and-shoot offense is predicated on the pass.

Brucato tossed 12 TD passes last year despite playing just two-thirds of the season, while other top-notch Andover QBs through the years have included Kent Warner, Jim Brent, Scott Seero, Jeff Winters, Bill Alexander, Manny Silva, Dan Welch, Ralph Dellatto and Tim Perry.

The ends will be carrying on a tradition established by the likes of Dick Bourdelais, Bob, Mark and Paul Farnham, Glenn Verrette and E.J. and John Perry.

The Warriors have never been long on running backs, but Collins likes the combination of power and speed provided by Dave Tucker, Dave Blank and Jeff Ring.

Coaches

Andover's sizable staff includes defensive coordinator Joe Iarrobino, Justin DeMarco (backfield), Joe Celia (quarterbacks), Peter Comeau (ends), Glen Alsup (offensive line) and Mark Cicciarelli (defensive backs).

Volunteer assistants are "tiny" Tony Marinaro (linebackers), Peter Reilly (special teams) and Bob Stabile (backs).

Schedule

For the third straight year Andover launches the season against Chelmsford, this time hosting the Lions under the lights on Friday night, Sept. 15, at 7 at Lovely Field.

Chelmsford and Central Catholic, whom Andover meets at the opposite end of the schedule (Thanksgiving morning), are acknowledged as the teams to beat this year in the Merrimack Valley Conference.

Chelmsford is coming off a 9-1-0 season and has a lot of returning players, led by quarterback-safety and coach's son Tommy Caito, who is listed in several national publications as one of the country's top 100 high school gridders.

"Chelmsford will be a tough opener," admitted Collins. "But we have to play themsome time, and maybe we'll catch them before they start jelling."

Other Friday night games at home, all 7 p.m. kickoffs, will be Tewksbury(Sept. 29), Haverhill (Oct. 13) and Lawrence High (Oct. 27).

Night games on the road are at Lowell (Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m.) and at Dracut (Oct. 20 at 7 p.m.).

The Nov. 4 contest at Methuen has a 2 p.m. because of SAT exams, and this year's Thanksgiving clash against Central is at Lawrence Veterans Stadium.

"I've never seen Bob (Coach Aylward) field a bad team at Tewksbury; 'Murph' (Dracut's Ed Murphy) is on a roll; Wilmington and Haverhill should both be improved," Collins said. "There simply aren't any easy games on the schedule."

The fun starts a week from tomorrow.

KEYSTONE Program

Holy Family Hospital and Medical Center in Methuen will present the KEYSTONE: Living with Cancer program for five consecutive Tuesdays, beginning Sept. 19, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the Sister M. Cornelius Cremin, C.B.S., Memorial Suite at the hospital.

The first meeting of the Andover Mothers' Club will be held in the Samuel C. Jackson school on Friday, September 18, at 3:30 p.m.

The previous years give evidence that this year's Flower Show will be well worth seeing. It's an Andover institution and ought to be well patronized.

Xury W. Wood of the Andover Press pressroom is on a week's leave of absence. He is spending his vacation motoring to different points of interest.

Miss Mira B. Wilson has returned from Princeton, Mass., where, with several other college graduates, she has been acting as hostess in a vacation home for forty working girls.

The Andover Canoe Club will hold an "up river" run on Labor Day, for members of the club and their friends, leaving the club house at 9 o'clock a.m. Basket lunch will be served.

Miss Gwen Armitage of Herhill street and Miss Eleanor Raidy of Summer street are starting their teaching careers in the local schools. Miss Armitage began her duties as the high school's first cadet yesterday and Miss Raidy will start Monday in the lower grades, taking the place of a regular full-pay teacher.

The possibility of putting on a fourth school bus developed Tuesday night at the school board meeting when Sueprintendent Sanborn presented a report on the ever increasing transportation problems.

Andover had only one automobile fatality this year, but the list of those accidents which might well have been fatal continues to mount. Sunday afternoon a Lawrence car collided with an Everett car on the bypass, swung to the left, hit the soft shoulder and overturned. The car was practically demolished but the four Lawrence men were only slightly injured.

St. Augustine's Parochial school will reopen on Monday morning, starting its second quarter century in Andover. A record attendance is expected.

The school first opened with three grades in September of 1914, the present building being first used in 1918.

On the third of September, 1914, the Sisters of Notre Dame took over the present convent at 1 Chestnut street. During the past year it has been completely renovated, including repainting, new plumbing, new lighting and new floors.

The public schools of town will reopen on Tuesday, September 8. The committee has voted that there shall be no charge in the age required for admission to the first grade. A child must be six years of age on or before the first of January following entrance.

Perini Electronic Corp., manufacurer of automatic dialer equipment will move its executive offices and establish East-Coast manufacturing facilities in Andover effective Sept. 21. The company has leased 40,000 square feet in the former Marland Mills complex, and reports that its initial employment will be approximately 125.

A company spokesman said this week that the expansion is a direct result of the need to meet increased telephone company demands for the "Magicall" automatic dialer, Pernini recently contracted with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for delivery of more than a million dollars worth of its product.

This week Andover residents will receive a Drug and Alcohol Awareness Survey in the Fall catalogue of the Department of Community Services. The purpose of the survey is to determine community opinion concerning the use of drugs and alcohol of town residents.

The survey was developed by the Andover Task Force on Drug and Alcohol Awareness. Initiated by the League of Women Voter in response to community concerns, the Task Force is composed of residents, educators, students, and social service professionals. The Task Force has been meeting for several months.

Adult residents are urged to complete the questionaire. Results will give direction to the Task Force on possible future action.

Selectmen voted Tuesday night to designate another no parking zone on Main St.

The new zone, on the west side of the street between Stevens Street and Railroad Ave., will be posted no parking. THe zone was designated because parked cars presented a clear traffic hazard, according to Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark.

The Middies have been one of the rare MVC teams to hold an edge over Andover in recent years, winning consecutive 1-0 decisions the past two seasons.

Amundsen feels Chelmsford and Billerica, both veteran teams, will be the ones to beat in the Large School Division this fall.

"The entire league should be more competitive than it's been in a while," he noted. "Central, Haverhill and Lawrence High should all be improved, and the better balance should make for more tougher games."

The Golden Warriors have put together a rugged non-league slate once again, traveling to St. John's Preparatory School on Tuesday, Sept. 19; hosting North Andover Monday, Oct. 9 (Columbus Day), under the lights at Lovely Field at 7 p.m.); and trekking to Concord-Carlisle on Friday, Oct. 27.

Other night games at home will be against Billerica, Saturday, Sept. 30; Lowell, Friday, Oct. 13; and Chelmsford, Wednesday, Oct. 25. Road games under the lights are at Chelmsford, Thursday, Oct. 5; and Billerica, Friday, Oct. 20.

Returning as assistant coaches are Mike Wartman, junior varsity, and Charlie Labelle, freshman.

•Reporting audited financial statements and quarterly documents on operations to the School Committee

The subcommittee is continuing to gather information for the formal report they will submit to the School Committee for action in October.

The subcommittee was formed to look into the uses of the facility as a high school auditorium, theater for community groups and activities and also for professional productions.

Some of the criticism that spurred the formation of the subcommittee came from citizens, who were outraged over the high rental fees the AEA charges. It currently costs $1,500 to use the center for a night.

The groups claim the fees are too high and keep them from the facility. Gerald Cohen, chairman of the AEA board of trustees, has maintained that the fees were necessary to maintain the center's high-tech stage, lighting and sound equipment.

The groups may come to a compromise that could open the door for further community usage of the Collins Center.

"I think at this time we'll waive the rental fee and see how that goes," said Gerald Cohen, chairman of the endowment's board of trustees.

Andover Theatre will have to outline a stage and lighting plan, said its president, Janet Alberecht. From there the design plans will go to AEA, where an hourly rate for the technical people they needed will be established, said Mr. Cohen.

way Society. The train departs Boston on Columbus Day weekend and slowly winds its way to Montreal through the heart of foliage country. The Berkshire Scenic Railway has a short trip from Lenox Station north towards Pittsfield on a 1920's vintage scenic excursion railroad.

Hikers will enjoy the concentration of color in Massachusetts' state forests and parks where they can hike along trails lined with red maples, black cherry trees, poplars and white oaks. The Mount Greylock State Reservation, located near the town of Lanesboro in the upper corner of the Berkshire Hills, has 35 miles of hiking trails, including a section of the Appalachian Trail. Greylock is the highest peak in the state with a panoramc view of five states.

Beautiful fall foliage is not restricted to the countryside. There are brilliant bursts of color across the grounds of the Arnold Arboretum in Boston. The arboretum contains the largest variety of trees, shrubs, vines andplants in North America. Hikers in the Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary north of Boston can walk along the river and share the path with wild birds and small animals.

The state forests and parks have bike trails where bikers can take one last ride before winter arrives. Myles Standish State Forest in South Carver has 18 miles of looped and nterlocking paved rails. The Cape Cod Rail Trail, once a series of railroad beds, is now a 19-mile bike path running from Dennis to Eastham.

Throughout September and October, Bay Staters celebrate the fall season with food festivals and harvest celebrations. The Lenox Apple Squeeze Festival, an annual Berkshire Hills event, signals the arrival of autumn and beginning of the fall foliage season. This country gathering offers a chance to sip some of the season's sweetest cider, made from newly pressed apples just off the trees.

Scallop lovers choose these crisp, sun-filled days to indulge their passion at the Scallop Festival in Bourne and Seafest on Nantucket.

The Bay State is the leading producer of cranberries and the harvesting of this ruby-red fruit is celebrated in cranberry fairs in South Carver and Harwich.

Golden Warriors Hope To Match Previous Successes

By Rick Harrison

For the past decade the Andover High School boys' varsity soccer team has owned the Merrimack Valley Conference.

The Golden Warriors have enjoyed an unprecedented string of successes, applying a strangehold on the league that rival teams have been unable to break.

Last fall Coach Dave Amundsen's AHS crew tied Chelmsford for the Large School Division championship.

That was simply business as usual, however, as Andover has now won eight league titles in the last nine years including a pair that were captured dramatically with clutch final-day victories over Billerica.

The Warriors have qualified for nine consecutive Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournaments; there have been tourney appearances 10 years altogether; and each of Amundsen's first 13 seasons have been winning ones.

Last year's league record was 12-2-1, the overall regular season mark was 14-2-2, and the complete ledger was 14-3-2, following an overtime loss (on penalty shots) to Medford in the quarterfinal round of the tourney.

With more than 120 career victories, about the only thing Amundsen would probably like to do differently is advance deeper into the tournament.

The 1989 team obviously has plenty of tradition to uphold, but with just two returning starters among the 60 candidates (eight freshmen) the task appears formidable.

Nine talented players graduated, including top scorers Matt Pothier, Scott Clementi and No. 1 goaltender Eric Hammond. Pothier is enrolled at Holy Cross where he'll concentrate on hockey; Hammond is at Arizona; and Clementi is attending college in California.

Also gone are forward Peter Kannam (Bowdoin), midfielder Eric Jones (Middlebury), forward-middie Mark Angelos (Northfield-Mount Hermon), forward Bob Hughes (military service), fullback Dave Manning (UMass-Amherst) and midfielder John Mattola.

Defense Strong

Andover's strength should emanate from its defense, led by veteran frontliners Kevin Murphy and Chuck Jessico.

The versatile Murphy is a senior sweeper, while senior Capt. Jessico is the Warriors' stopperback.

Seven other lettermen who saw considerable varsity exposure last year are senior goalies Mike Sintros and Dave Carriere, senior forward and assistant captain Matt MacVicar, senior midfielder-defender and assistant captain Fred Hohn, senior forward Chris Merrill, junior forward Brad Cronin and sophomore forward-midfielder Brian Jones.

New players who have impressed during pre-season workouts are junior defender Ryan Rodrigues, junior defender John Elliott, senior midfielder Rick Bertetti, senior wing George Willard, sophomore defender Brendan O'Leary and freshman midfielder Keith Selvitelli.

"Defensively we should be strong, and we're working on creating goalscoring opportunities," said Amundsen.

"We've had some good goalscorers here through the years (Dave Farrell, Dave Keene, Barry Tucker, Matt Pothier), but Steve Carbone was the only pure, natural one. He was always in the right place at the right time. The others did it through aggressiveness and hard work."

Chris Merrill is the top returning scorer, while Amundsen also feels Brad Cronin and Matt MacVicar have the potential.

"I moved Matt up from midfield because he's very crafty," explained the coach. "We hope to get a lot out of him on the front line."

AHS played a pair of practice games last weekend, the current varsity edging an alumni team 2-1 in the fourth annual pre-Labor Day weekend battle before dropping a 2-1 decision to Reading of the powerful Middlesex League.

Other practice games are scheduled against Wakefield and Masconomet Regional, a pair of traditional boys' soccer powerhouses, and North Andover.

Season Opener

The season opens next Wednesday, Sept. 13, with a 7 p.m. game against Dracut at Lovely Field.
